

LEGAL MYTHS

1. At a certain age my child gets to decide with whom he or she lives.
 2. If a police officer makes a mistake on my speeding ticket, I can't be convicted.
 3. If I live with my significant other for a certain period of time, we are automatically (common law) married.
 4. My juvenile record is forever sealed, and no one can get access to it.
 5. If I get divorced, my spouse automatically gets one-half (1/2) of everything I own.
 6. If I die without a will, my spouse automatically receives all of my property.
 7. If I share custody of my child 50/50, I don't have to pay child support.
 8. If I am convicted of a crime, I can always get the record erased (expunged) later.
 9. If I am separated from my spouse for two years, divorce is automatic.
 10. The practice of law is only about winning or losing.
-

The world is full of myths.

Get the right information from the right attorney.

WHALEN LAW

Mercer (724) 662-1927 Sharon (724) 346-3776
Greenville (724) 588-0306